WHAT TEXTRYVA DOES

We connect the details between buyer and mill.

Fabric orders involve many linked decisions: construction, color, finish, sampling, approvals, production follow-up and shipment handoff. TEXTRYVA helps buyers and mills keep those details moving through a coordinated process.

A CLEAR AND PRACTICAL ROLE

TEXTRYVA is a sourcing and order coordination partner. Manufacturing is carried out by textile mills. TEXTRYVA coordinates buyer requirements, supplier communication, development decisions and order follow-up. Available options, capacity, commercial terms and order details are confirmed for each inquiry.

HOW WE WORK

01 Understand the brief

Capture product use and fabric requirements.

02 Coordinate options

Discuss relevant choices with manufacturing partners.

03 Keep follow-up visible

Track decisions, open items and order milestones.

Our mission: make fabric sourcing clearer and more dependable.

We coordinate sourcing and follow-up between apparel buyers and textile mills, helping keep development decisions and order details aligned.

Fabric families and development

The right search starts with end use, construction, composition, weight, width, color, finish, quantity and timing.

01 WOVEN

Non-denim woven options for shirts, bottoms, outerwear and other apparel uses. Examples include poplin, twill, Oxford, satin, canvas, chambray, herringbone, dobby and jacquard.

Options are confirmed against each specific brief.

02 DENIM

Development discussions can cover intended use, construction, weight, color, wash direction, finish and order requirements.

Options are confirmed against each specific brief.

03 KNIT

Categories include jersey, rib, interlock, pique, French terry, ponte, fleece and patterned knits, subject to the brief and mill availability.

Options are confirmed against each specific brief.

04 COLOR & SURFACE

Inquiries may include solid-dyed, printed and yarn-dyed directions, with references, sample stages and approvals confirmed for each order.

Options are confirmed against each specific brief.

DETAILS THAT HELP US REVIEW A BRIEF

Construction and fiber content | Weight and width | Color or reference | Finish and performance | Quantity and delivery timing

Fabric categories describe sourcing coordination, not guaranteed stock.

A practical six-step process

The sequence is adapted to the fabric, supplier and order. Specifications, approvals, terms and responsibilities are confirmed with the relevant parties.

STEP 01

Understand the brief

Review product use, construction, composition, target weight, width, color or finish, quantity, destination, target cost and timing.

STEP 02

Explore suitable options

Coordinate with relevant mills on possible constructions, current availability, minimums, estimated lead times and quotation details.

STEP 03

Develop and sample

Arrange agreed swatches, lab dips, strike-offs or other development items. Record buyer comments and share approvals with the mill.

STEP 04

Confirm order details

Align the approved specification, quantities, colors, finishing requirements, price basis and production schedule before bulk work.

STEP 05

Follow production and checks

Request updates at agreed milestones. Coordinate follow-up on finishing, quality requirements, test or inspection information and readiness.

STEP 06

Coordinate shipment handoff

Bring together agreed documents, readiness updates and handoff information with the buyer, mill and logistics parties.

RESPONSIBILITIES ARE AGREED FOR EACH ORDER

Production, testing, inspection, shipping and payment arrangements are confirmed with the parties responsible.

Clear roles build buyer confidence

TEXTORYVA helps keep communication organized while the buyer and mill confirm the decisions and commitments they own.

BUYER

Sets the product need

Shares end use, fabric specifications, target quantity, destination and timing. Reviews samples and confirms approvals, commercial terms and order decisions.

TEXTORYVA

Coordinates the process

Structures the brief, communicates with relevant manufacturing partners, coordinates development follow-up and keeps open decisions and milestones visible.

TEXTILE MILL

Confirms production details

Confirms technical feasibility, available capacity, material details, production schedule, quality processes and supplier-specific commercial terms.

WHAT BUYERS CAN EXPECT

QUALITY ALIGNMENT

Coordinate written specifications, swatches, lab dips, strike-offs and documented buyer approvals.

DELIVERY COORDINATION

Request supplier updates at agreed milestones and surface delays or open approvals for follow-up.

COMPARABLE SOURCING

Share a clear brief and review relevant options with minimums, lead times and requirements in view.

TEXTORYVA coordinates requirements and follow-up; it does not manufacture fabric, independently certify fabric, guarantee a delivery date or guarantee the lowest market price. Quality outcomes and schedules depend on the approved brief and participating suppliers.
